INTELLIGENCE COMMUNITY AWARDS

The Director of Central Intelligence established the Intelligence Community awards to honor those who provided exceptional service on behalf of the United States Intelligence Community.

The National Intelligence Distinguished Service Medal is awarded for distinguished meritorious service or achievement in a duty of great responsibility within the Intelligence Community which distinctly benefits the interests of the United States and constitutes a major contribution to the foreign intelligence mission of the Intelligence Community.

The National Intelligence Medal of Achievement is awarded for especially meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding service by a member of the Intelligence Community. Recognizing performance of an especially difficult duty in a clearly exceptional manner, the service must relate directly to the Intelligence Community's mission to provide the intelligence required for national security policy determinations.

The National Intelligence Certificate of Distinction is awarded for sustained superior performance of duty of high value by a member of the Intelligence Community or for a significant single act of special merit.

The National Intelligence Meritorious Unit Citation is awarded for the collective performance of a unit or group that has resulted in accomplishments of a clearly superior nature and of significant benefit to the Intelligence Community.

The Intelligence Community Seal Medallion is awarded to contractors, consultants, or other U.S. government officers who do not qualify for any other Intelligence Community award. This award recognizes sustained superior performance of duty of high value which distinctly benefits the interests of the United States and is directly related to the mission of the Intelligence Community.
